

LICKING VALLEY COURIER.

VOLUME 8. NO. 5.

WEST LIBERTY, MORGAN COUNTY, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, JULY 12, 1917.

WHOLE NUMBER 369.

GUMPTION,

Which is plain Common Sense, in United States language, without Educational Furbelows.
BY L. T. HOVERMALE.

Political Attrition.

Some of the excellent fellows who are running for the office of County Attorney have awakened to the fact that "yours truly" had a sufficient number of good citizens for me to make the outlook doubtful for them, promptly set to work to counteract the growth of the sentiment for me, and, being good fellows, have evidently by some peculiar feat of telepathy, all adopted the method of attrition.

To illustrate: One of my opponents said to me a few days ago that if I was not running that a majority of the men who were for me would be for him, and he added that the "people" expected that I would quit the race. To prevent any possible attrition of my supporters from that rumor let me say, now and finally, that I will not quit the race, but will be a candidate until the polls close on August 4th. Now this alleged expectation could not exist if it was not being fostered by the friends of the man who would profit by it, and it is not fair either to me or to the public.

Another is persistently repeating in every section that very few in other sections are supporting me, and still another opponent is alleging that I am not in good faith a candidate and that I am for him. All of these methods may be good politics, but they are not good principle, and their use against me constrains me to state anew my reasons for the hope I have that I will be elected.

The people—the voters—are the arbiters of the political fate of all the candidates, and in their judgment and honesty I have an implicit and abiding trust. Not a faith that they will vote for me, right or wrong, but a faith that they will vote for what they believe to be the best interests of their county, and no candidate has the right to feel aggrieved if the people choose other than he.

At this point I want to explain another thing. Some of my friends ask why I don't get out and "mix" more. There are two reasons, one that I have work that I can not neglect, but the most potent reason is that I have too much respect for the intelligence of the citizenship of the county to assume that profuse handshaking and candidatorial gush will help them to arrive at a correct conclusion as to their duty as citizens. When a candidate with whom I have only a slight acquaintance rushes up and uses both hands to greet me and spills over with gush and solicitude about me, my mind brings up visions of "soft soap" to me and his chances of getting my vote is materially lessened. Do you, my reader, feel that this anxious-at-election-time solicitude of the "good mixer" influences your vote? Or, as has most observers, have you learned that the good mixer is almost invariably a poor officer? On last Monday a candidate said to me that he wished that it was the custom for candidates to announce for office, state the ideas they advocated, and leave the balance to the people. I asked him why he didn't try it, and he said that the people expect it. I don't believe that the people expect that candidates shall scour the county shaking hands. The candidates expect that the people expect it and force a two month's confusion and strife on them each election.

I am the only candidate for County Attorney who has had the courage to base his hope of election on the intelligence of the citizenship of the county. I may not be elected, but if not it will be because I don't measure up to the people's ideals. I believe that the people will do what they think is best.

As an example of what the people are thinking along those lines, a good citizen, who lives in a precinct that I had been told was practically solid for one of my opponents, said here Monday: "Hovermale is not out raising a big fuss, but is quietly attending to his work. We know him and know what he stands for, and I believe that there is enough of us who will vote for him to elect him." And almost daily I get letters, unsolicited, from good men in all parts of the county that make me feel sanguine of success in my fight for the nomination.

In this connection I want to call attention to a few of the issues in this race. Go back over the public records of all of the candidates for this office and find, if you can, an instance where either of my opponents ever came out in the open and fought for a moral reform at a time when that moral issue sorely needed men. For twenty-five years I have voted the Democratic ticket without missing an election, traveling 400 miles at my own expense once solely to vote for Democratic nominees. I began, 18 years ago, the prosecutions in a magistrate's court that, carried to the Court of Appeals, ended forever the shipping liquor C. O. D. in Kentucky. In every instance where the best interests of the country has been menaced you have found my voice raised in protest, and no man has ever known me to hesitate because it might be unpopular. I am not giving these as claims why you should vote for me, but to call to attention the fact that a man who has done things is more likely to do things again. I repeat, has any of my opponents ever stood out for a good cause at the risk of personal loss? Would either have launched a fight, while a candidate, against the use of booze in elections and braved the wrath of the candidate who want to use it?

Disastrous Fire at Morehead.

Our neighboring town of Morehead was visited by a disastrous fire early Saturday morning the 7th inst. The blaze originated in a blacksmith shop on the west side of main street and was not gotten under control until the shop, the office of the Morehead Mountaineer, a livery stable, the residences of Mrs. J. C. Blair and Dr. A. L. Blair and the office of Dr. Blair were destroyed.

All the horses and vehicles in the livery stable were saved. The supply of feed was destroyed. Very little was saved of the machinery and fixtures of the Mountaineer office. Only a small part of the furniture was saved from the two dwellings. The losses on the dwellings and Dr. Blair's office were partly covered by insurance. The other buildings destroyed were not insured.

Big Briers.

S. H. Combs, of Pekin, showed a Courier man two blackberry briers, each 31 feet long, that grew on his farm. This length is so extraordinary that the reporter would have hesitated to make the statement if Shade did not have the briers mounted on his fence by the roadside where all may see. Anyhow, Shade is a record-breaker in various lines of farming undertakings.

Report Corrected.

July 3, 1917.

To whom it may concern: I understand that Mr. B. S. Stamper has narrated it around that I am outspoken for him for Sheriff of Morgan county, and I will say this is false, as I promised Mr. Charley Henry that I would vote for him, as I know he is a sober, upright man. I also told Mr. Stamper that I had promised Mr. Henry I would vote for him. BEN MURPHY.

Boys Join Navy.

Mr. Willard McGuire, of this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McGuire, Messrs. Albert and Charlie Hilton, sons of Mr. Lewis Hilton, of the county, have taken the examination and are awaiting orders where to report for duty in the navy of the United States.—Mt. Sterling Gazette.

The three young men mentioned above were all born and reared in Morgan county and have many relatives living here who will be interested to know of their decision to fight for their country.

Married at Jackson.

On Tuesday at 5:30 in the afternoon at the Methodist parsonage on East Main, the Rev. S. H. Pollitt united in marriage Anne Vivian Hollon to George Hayes Heinrich. The bride is one of country's most beautiful young ladies and has many attractions, being a sister to Jennette, the Lovely, who has so long been with the Hargis Bank, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hollon, of Neola, where they have large business interests.

Mr. Heinrich, the groom, is from Mt. Sterling where he was a printer, but at present in the produce business at Neola. They were at the Jefferson Hotel and left Wednesday for Mt. Sterling for a few days after which they will return to Neola and settle down to a delightful life.—Jackson Times.

Mr. Heinrich was former employee of the Courier and has many friends in West Liberty who extend congratulations.

Flag Raising and Patriotic Rally.

There will be a flag raising and patriotic rally at the court house in West Liberty, Saturday July 14.

A large flag has been purchased by money contributed by the three Sunday schools of the town and raised by popular subscription. This flag will be raised over the court house, and smaller flags will be raised over each of the churches. A band concert will be given and patriotic speeches will be made.

Let everybody come, show your patriotism and spend an enjoyable day.

Down the Home Stretch.

To the Democrats of Morgan county:

The primary election is drawing near and it might be said of the candidates that they are now coming down the home stretch. Many a horse has been passed in the home stretch that looked like a sure winner as he turned the last corner.

In the race for county Assessor there are four entries—all good men, I presume, but I want to speak of the one who looks like a winner. I refer to Mr. W. C. Black, of Blaze, that whom no better Democrat nor energetic, hustling citizen lives within the confines of Morgan county. He is qualified to fill the office he now seeks and he is worthy of the confidence and support of the people. He is a farmer and carries the calouses within his hands which today more than ever are badges of honor. Vote for him and elect him to this office and you will never regret your action.

A CITIZEN.

Lawson-Rose.

Miss Bertha Rose went to Champaign on Monday and was there united in marriage to Boyd Lawson of New Castle, Ind., by County Judge Roy C. Freeman. The couple left soon after the ceremony for New Castle to make their home, the groom having been employed there for some time in the tool department of the Maxwell automobile factory. The bride, who is a daughter of Joseph A. Rose, of Hazel Green, Ky., has been a resident of this community since girlhood, the family having moved back to Kentucky several years ago. For nearly five years she was a member of the T. M. VanDeventer household, where she was held in the highest esteem, and she has a great many friends in this city who appreciate her numerous fine qualities and attractiveness of person. She will be especially missed in the Church of Christ and Sunday school, where she was an active and useful member and a successful teacher. Mr. and Mrs. VanDeventer took her to Champaign in their car and witnessed the ceremony.

Mr. Lawson's home before he came here to do farm work a few years ago was at West Liberty, Ky. He is a brother of Kelly Lawson, living north of town, and bears a good reputation for industry, ability and fine morals.—Farmer City Times.

Underwent Operation.

Edward, little son of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Keeton, was taken from Salyersville, where Mrs. Keeton and children are visiting, to Catlettsburg where he had a cinder removed from one of his eyes, and also adenoids removed from his nose.

The operation was entirely successful and they returned to Salyersville Tuesday.

A CARD.

At a meeting of the pastors of the various churches of West Liberty it was unanimously agreed that we could do no less than to say that we must withhold our support from any candidate, for any office, whom we know to use money or liquor or other corrupt method to secure his nomination. However, this does not indicate that we espouse the cause of any particular candidate.

A Letter Explained.

I understand it is being reported over the county by George W. Stacy that he is in possession of a letter written by me that Farish Hamilton is not in the race with Joe Roe Wells for Jailer. I did write Mr. Stacy a letter sometime in last May in regard to a proposition that he (Mr. Stacy) had made to Farish Hamilton through me in regard to Hamilton accepting a place in the Jailer's race under him, and said in that letter that Farish Hamilton would not accept the place and did not think he would have anything to do with the Jailer's race. After that Farish Hamilton accepted a place with Joe Roe Wells and is now a candidate.

This is the only letter I ever have written Mr. Stacy and anything reported to the contrary is false and untrue.

Now I wish to say with due courtesy to all the candidates for Jailer, I will support Mr. Wells. Respectfully,
S. D. HAMILTON.

J. L. Fugate for Magistrate.

In this issue of the Courier appears the formal announcement of John L. Fugate for the Democratic nomination for Justice of the Peace for Magisterial district No. 3. Mr. Fugate is not without experience as a Justice of the Peace, having served one term in that important office several years ago. He is a sober, law-abiding man, and one who believes that laws were made to be obeyed, and if elected will see to it that the laws are enforced so far as it lies within his power to enforce them.

Mr. Fugate is a popular farmer, well versed in current affairs, progressive in his ideas and acquainted with the needs of the people. Consider his candidacy carefully before casting your vote.

J. H. MORRIS.

Revival Meeting.

A revival meeting began at the Baptist church Monday night, conducted by Eld. C. D. Stevens, of Harlan. Eld. Stevens is a forceful, logical thinker and is delivering a series of sermons well worth hearing. Go out and hear him and you will be benefited and will help the meeting.

Funeral Services.

The funerals of Amos Pelfrey and Mrs. Emma Pelfrey will be preached at the Pelfrey graveyard, on Lacy creek, on the 5th Sunday in July (July 29), Elders J. C. Barker, W. F. Lykins and Jiles Buecheimer will do the preaching.

Vote for Hovermale.

Written by Francis Scott Key, on the night of September 14, 1814, while compelled to watch under the guns of a British ship the bombardment of Fort Mifflin. He watched the flag at the fort through the whole day with an anxiety that can be better felt than described, until darkness prevented him from seeing it. During the night he watched the bombshells, and at early dawn his eye was again greeted by the proudly waving flag of his country.

To The Voters of the 91st Legislative District of Kentucky.

It is being widely rumored that G. C. Taulbee has quit the race for representative of the 91st Legislative District of Kentucky, composed of Morgan and Wolfe counties. Of course, there are those who wish he would quit, and evidently the wish has been the father of the falsehood. He has not quit AND WILL NOT QUIT, so do not be misled by such false rumors.

Mr. Taulbee has been prevented from devoting his whole time to his race by the illness of his wife and by business demands he could not avoid and remain true to his clients and to his friends. He wishes to inform his friends throughout the district that he is in the race to stay to the end and that from reliable information from all over the district he has his nomination won by a handsome majority.

Mr. Taulbee is a candidate with the full consciousness that there is practically no remuneration in the position he seeks, but his ideal and ambition is to be of real, substantial service to the people of the mountains.

The insistent demand of the people at this time is for a man who is qualified to render them faithful, efficient service. The voters of this district surely will not be satisfied with any other type or character of man. Political ties, false promises and vociferations will not win the nomination for Representative this time. We, the people, demand ability and character, and we find ability and character personified in Mr. Taulbee. No intelligent voter will be caught or misled by campaign lies.

Mr. Taulbee will see as many of you personally as is possible for him to do, and will spend the last two weeks of the campaign in speaking over the district. Come out and hear him and then conscientiously ask yourselves who is the best qualified man in the race and answer by your vote on August 4th.

Wholesale Convictions in Federal Court.

In the Federal Court at Catlettsburg last week 68 persons from Magoffin county, accused of using the mails to defraud and dealing in bogus land titles, were convicted and sentenced. The penalties ranged from fines of $50.00 to $5000.00, and from three months in jail to Three years in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga.

A great number of those convicted are

The wise man knows much and says little. The fool just keeps right on spilling the beans.

Heredity runs deep, and the girl who is lazy and selfish and surly to her mother may expect the treatment from her own children in after years.

Some nut suggests that we start a movement to Americanize America. Quite useless; the kaiser did that when he tramped on the star spangled toe.

We might, with advantage, inaugurate a training camp for those wild asses who are continually telling the government how to do things they couldn't do themselves.

The newspaper fraternity throughout Eastern Kentucky will sympathize with brothers W. T. Abbott and E. T. Schwab in the loss of their plant by fire Tuesday, but none doubt but that these veteran newspaper men will bring that excellent newspaper, the Morehead Mountaineer, Phoenix-like from the ashes and still make it a light for Rowan county. Country publishers surmount disasters that would finish men in other callings.

WHY ARE WE FIGHTING?

The answer to this question is contained in the government's red, white and blue book, just issued. The text of the book—or paper—has been published in all of the daily papers, and constitutes an unanswerable argument in favor of war to the hilt. Read it—study it—analyze it—and when you have digested its contents you will be thoroughly convinced of the justice and the absolute necessity of the war the United States is waging against Germany.

WANTED—A HOME MARKET.

This town should have a home-market place for every single product of the farm, large and small. It should be a place where the farmer can dispose of his produce at market prices and for spot cash, without the trouble and waiting incident to shipping to outside points. When this is done much of the farmer's money that goes out of town now will in future be spent right at home, with our home business men. This world does not recognize the policy of "something for nothing," hence if we want the farmer to help us we must be equally willing to aid him. Who has the brains and the energy to make a start in this direction? It means much to the future welfare of each of us.

HAMSTRUNG AND STRANGLER.

Not long ago a train of fourteen cars of potatoes, billed to the Chicago market, were discovered at a small town near that city, where they had been side-tracked and left to rot—at a time when potatoes were selling at $4.00 a bushel.

For a number of years now we have been learning of the wilful destruction every season of such commodities as potatoes, cabbage, melons, apples, and other fruits when there was an opportunity by so doing to force prices up in the interest of the speculators.

These food pirates have purchased acres and acres of fruit on the trees and then refused to allow them to be picked—kept them there to rot—in order to keep them from the open market.

In other ways the campaign of pillage and loot at the expense of the consumer has been going merrily on.

Of course, merely to designate the perpetrators of these outrages as robbers and pirates does not one particle of good except to afford some slight relief to our feelings. There seems to be nothing the country could do to prevent these outrages.

But there SHOULD be, and if we mistake not the temper of the American people, there soon WILL be.

When the countries of Europe first adopted the policy of government control of food stuffs we in this country congratulated ourselves that we live in a FREE country. Lately, however, we are beginning to learn a few things—that instead of the freedom of which we boast, we are hamstrung and strangled by a horde of piratical food speculators who have no conscience, know no law, and are devoid of the first principles of humanity.

With the proof clearly before us that the people are being systematically and outrageously plundered, our congress has the monumental effrontery to dawdle around and haggle over minor details while the poorer classes of our population are being driven to distraction.

With such examples before us, the action of President Wilson in demanding food control by the government—even a dictator, if necessary—looks good to us. It will not keep the producer from receiving a fair and just price for his products, neither will it injure the consumer. But it will everlastingly put a crimp on the golden tail of the remorseless speculator.

It is time for congress to enact adequate laws whereby the President can once and for all put an end to this hamstringing and strangling of the American consumer.

Teaching Humility

To The Prussian.

In all the world there has been no more arrogant type of mind than that of the Prussian, and especially the Prussian militarist and bureaucrat. It is the Prussian who has tottled all over the globe the doctrine of "Deutshland ueber alles." It is the Prussian who has believed in the doctrine that might makes right; that the German is the "blond beast," the "superman" of whom Prussian philosophers prated as the future lord and master of the earth and the seven seas. It is the Prussian who tossed into the discard, as merely futile and outworn, the doctrines of the Christian religion.

Lloyd George, prime minister of England, usually has a way of saying things that go directly to the heart of the matter. So it is well to quote him in this connection:

"We are pounding a sense of inferiority into every pore of the German mind. As long as the Prussians have an idea of superiority in their minds Europe will not be a decent place for people to live in peace. It will be easier after this. The Prussian has many virtues, but a sense of humility has never been among them. The Prussian is now being taught the virtue of humility with a fierce and relentless lash."

The British premier indicates part of what our job is to be. We must help teach humility to the Prussian. He must learn that he is not cock of the walk and owner of the sea. He must learn, by painful and bitter experience, that it is easier to start a war than to win it, and he who disturbs the world's peace must pay the price in blood and tears and gold before he is allowed to say: "Hold, enough!" He must learn that Americans, Britons, Frenchmen, Italians, Russians are not inferior peoples, but his equals, if indeed, they are not vastly his superiors.

His contempt for democracies must be shot out of him. His jealousy of his neighbors must be whipped out of him.

Only when these things have been accomplished will the Prussian be a good neighbor, capable of doing his part in the world's work without disturbing or attacking others who wish to follow their lawful pursuits in peace and quiet.—Cincinnati Post.

Mother Kept Vow Made 19 Years Ago.

On the day that the Maine was destroyed—February 15, 1898—two boys were born to Mr. and Mrs. William Hearn at Jett, Ky. They were delicate babies, and it was freely predicted that they would not live. The mother, however, refused to share any such belief.

President McKinley's call for volunteers was sounding through the land. Looking proudly on her little lads the mother said: "If God will spare them I will give them both to Uncle Sam when they are eighteen."

They were christened James and Sanford and grew into sturdy young manhood, so much alike that even the mother could not tell them apart.

She never forgot her pledge and the boys, imbuing the spirit of patriotism, were ready at the first call. The day they were eighteen they were aboard the battleship New York and had a picture made for their mother.

A remarkable coincidence is found in the fact that their great-grandfather enlisted in the Mexican War at eighteen and their grandfather in the Civil at the same age.—Sentinel Democrat.

I Know.

I know that this day will never come again. Therefore I will make it the best Day in which I ever lived.

I know that Happiness is a thing within and that it is always in the world and very near to me. I know I have but to search for it and that as soon as I begin to hunt it out I have it. Also, I know that as soon as I get Happiness and begin to give it away it comes back doubled—and more, to me. I know this.

I know that work is a stimulus and that it keeps the world alive and moving. I know that people who work with Love in their Hearts and interest in their Brains are the real Doers and Benefactors of Mankind. I know that I can be a Doer and a Benefactor.

I know that Life is exactly what I make it. I know that other people and other forces can influence my life at Work only as I allow it. I know that I am young if I live youth; I know that I am happy if I live Happiness; I know that I am Worth While if I attempt and accomplish Worth While things.

I know that the greatest thing I can ever do is to do my Best at all times, and under every circumstance.—By George Matthew Adams.

Be Canny.

Get that canning impulse. Make your hoe this summer keep your can opener busy next winter.

Get ready for canning season now. Regrets are the only things ever canned in jars you forgot to order.

Can nothing that can be kept without canning. Dry such vegetables as corn, string beans, navy beans, mature Lima beans, okra, etc.

You can brag about your garden all winter if you have canned evidence on the dinner table.

Concentrate products, especially soup mixtures, so that each container will hold as much canned food and as little water as possible.

Really there is nothing to canning fruit and vegetables except care, cleanliness, fresh products, jars and heat.

Establish a home canning firm, "Father, Mother & Co." Don't forget the little "co's."

Reason to Cry.

At a golden wedding recently an entertainment was given to the surrounding tenantry of the aged couple. At the close of the proceedings the host rose and relieved his feelings in an eloquent speech.

"Look at that, now, Pat," whispered an old Irishwoman, nudging her husband's elbow. "Did ye see the poor old master wid the tears in the eyes of him?" "Shure, an' why wouldn't he be eroyin'?" was her husband's retort, "an' he married to the same woman fur fifty years!"—Ex.

She bought it with the money which her husband borrowed from her uncle, who won it in a poker game from her brother, to whom she had loaned it shortly after her mother had taken it from her father's pockets and given it to her for a birthday present.—Life.

HERMANN HAGEDORN
of the VILLAGES

America, America, where is your manhood gone?
Who taught your sons to brag and run, who taught your sons to faint?
Who taught your sons to whine of peace with quaking
coward knees,
And fling in panic to the wolves your hard-won liberties?

America, America, where is your glory fled?
What of the dreams, what of the deeds, what of the noble dead?
What of the swords that flashed for you, what of the torques that spoke?
What of the hearts that bled for you, what of the hearts that broke?

America, America, remember now your dead!
They cry to you across the night and will not be gainsaid!

Arm, arm, arise, America! Gird on your sword once more!
The foe is at the harbor-mouth; the foe is on your shore!

Awake, arise, America! What cries are in the air?
Hark, the clear word of Washington! The call of Lincoln there!
Cleveland, and there, John Hancock! There, Adams,
Webster, Clay!
There, Patrick Henry! There, John Brown! There, Jackson, Lee, John Hay!

Arise, America! Your dead cry out to you, Arise!
Grant, Schuyler, Marshall, Marion! The brave call and the wheel!
Paul Jones, Decatur, Perry, McDonough, of Champlain!
Arise, America, and stand! A race of men again!

You were not meant to cringe; you were not made to quail.

You were not set a lamp for men, to flare and gutter
and fail!

By God, we did not give our blood to set your light on high!

Only to see a craven band slothfully let it die!

No, by the God we honor, To Whom alone we bow!
We did not die for Freedom, then, to let her perish now!
Arm, arm, arise, America! Put by the craven dead!
We come, we come to the colors! We come, the invincible dead!

Arm, arm, arise, For your dead cannot sleep in the old,
green graves!

Liberty cries, imperiled! And we dead rise up from the waves!

Must the strength of the living! Ten to one are we!
Ten ghosts behind each valiant boy who strikes for Liberty!

Arm, arm, arise, America! Heart of my land, be flame!
An end of words and battle! An end of loth and shame!

Hark, how the old heroic ghosts to deathless deeds invite!

If you are cowards, perish! But if you are men, then fight!

Renew Worn-out Pastures.

"Grow sweet clover" is the answer for poor soil or worn-out pastures which no longer support live stock profitably, according to investigations of the United States department of agriculture,
who have found that thousands of acres of sweet clover are furnishing annually abundant pasturage for all kinds of stock on soil where other crops made but little growth.

In many portions of the Middle West sweet clover bids fair to solve serious pasturage problems,
according to Farmer's Bulletin 820, "Sweet Clover: Utilization," just issued. Native pastures which no longer provided more than a scant living for a mature steer on 4 or 5 acres, when properly seeded to sweet clover, will produce sufficient forage to carry at least one animal to the acre throughout the season. Dairy cattle, horses, sheep and hogs all do well on sweet clover. Land which is too rough or too depleted for cultivation or permanent pastures which have become thin and weedy may be improved greatly by drilling in, after disk-ing, a few pounds of sweet-clover seed per acre. Not only will the sweet clover add considerably to the quality and quantity of the pasturage, but the growth of the grasses will be improved by the addition of large quantities of humus and nitrogen to the soil.

Sweet clover has proved to be an excellent pasturage crop on many of the best farms in the North Central States. In this part of the country it is often seeded alone and pastured from the middle or the latter part of June until frost, or it may be sown with grain and pastured
after harvest.

If the growings think canning
is a difficult process, the children will show them how.

Wasn't A Stump.

Some rowdy boys had been going in Uncle Silas' field at night and eating his choicest watermelons. The irate old gentleman stood this a night or two, when he decided to put a stop to it by watching his patch, with his double barreled shot gun across his knee, when pretty soon he nodded in profound slumber.

The boys came into the patch,
and choosing a nice one apiece
discovered that they had no knives and looked around for something to bust the melons on.

"Here's a stump," softly called the smallest boy, bringing his melon down upon the dark object, when, horrors! the supposed stump fell over with a howl,
kicking viciously.

Uncle Silas, alias the stump,
raised up and looking around comprehendingly, "Begorra, I couldn't done better vid me gun."—Ex.

Hero of Ticonderoga

With one impulse the colonies sprung
to arms; with one spirit they pledged themselves to each other "to be ready for the extreme event" with one accord and heart the continent cried,
"Liberty or Death!"—George Bancroft.

The bloody encounter at Lexington
in 1775 fired the blood of the patriots
and filled them
with burning desire to do some heroic deed in defense of the colonies. Word
reached Col.
Ethan Allen to raise the Green Mountain boys
and if possible
surprise and take the fortress of Ticonderoga.

Engage for such exploit he rallied 230 of the vallant
mountain boys and on the ninth day of May, 1775, succeeded in getting a few bouts and transported 83 men across the lake, and sent the boats back for the rest of the men. But day now hegan to dawn and Colonel Allen realized that if the attempt against the fort were to succeed he and his daring expedition must act at once.

Nothing daunted by the fact that their force was so few, and making up in patriotic devotion what they lacked in numbers, Colonel Allen called for volunteers for the perilous venture.
"I do not urge any to enter on this enterprise contrary to his will, inasmuch as it is a desperate attempt,
which none but the harvest of men
dare undertake," cried Colonel Allen. "You that will undertake voluntarily, please your firelock." Every man poised his firelock.

He immediately formed them into line and at their head advanced on the gate of the fortress. The sentry snapped his fuse at the colonel and then retreated to the parade within the garrison. Allen and his men quickly followed and formed in the parade. The garrison was asleep—all but the sentries who did not fully sense what was transpiring. Allen and his men gave three huzzas, and one of the sentries made a pass at one of the men with a charged bayonet
and slightly wounded him.

Allen was about to run him through with his sword but thought better of it and only slightly wounded him on the head whereon he dropped his gun and heaved for quarter. This granted he showed Colonel Allen the officers' quarters whither the intrepid commander rushed and compelled the commander, Captain Delaplace, to come forth and deliver over the entire garrison on threat of putting the entire force to the sword.

"By what authority?" demanded
Captain Delaplace.

"In the name of the Great Jehovah
and the Continental Congress," thundered Allen, as he raised his sword over Delaplace's head. In the meantime the Green Mountain boys had been idle but had bent down the barracks doors and had about a third of the garrison prisoners. With staggered exultation the commander forthwith submitted and the fort was completely in the hands of Colonel Allen, who in his own account of the exploit says:

"The sun seemed to rise that morning with a superior luster, and Ticonderoga and its dependencies smiled
on its conquerors."

DYING FOR ONE'S COUNTRY

"Death Never Comes Too Soon, If Necessary in Defense of Our Country."—Story.

It was Nathan Hale who said, "I regret that I have but one life to lose for my country." And it is for a cause that makes one of his heroes say: "It is sweet and glorious to die for one's country." There have been many and striking illustrations of this in our country's history. It is said that the untimely fall of Col. Owen Roberts, who fell at Stono, was cause of universal regret. He was an inflexible patriot, an excellent disciplinarian, and enthusiast in pursuit of military fame. His son, who was in the action, hearing of his misfortune, listened to him. The exclaiming veteran, perceiving in his countenance the liveliest sorrow, addressed him with great composure: "I rejoice, my boy,
once again to see and to embrace you.
Heed this sword, which has never been tarnished by dishonor, and let it not be inactive while the liberty of our country is endangered. Take my last adieu, accept my blessings, and return to your duty."

DROP IN!

It is related that a private in the army of the Potomac was sentenced to be shot for sleeping at his post of duty. In some way word of the approaching execution came to the attention of President Lincoln,
and after writing
out a reprieve he called his carriage and started out to see that the reprieve did not fail to reach the poor condemned soldier. It was a battering hot day and the ride to camp was a long one of ten miles, but the great-hearted Lincoln was bent on saving the poor soldier and he went forward. Perhaps the president later forgot the incident and his weightier cares of state, but not so the soldier. When the Third Vermont charged upon the rifle pits before Yorktown the following year the enemy poured a volley upon them. The first man to fall was William Scott of Company K, with six bullets through his body. His comrades caught him as he fell and as his life blood ebbed away, he raised to heaven amid the din of battle, the cries of the dying and the shouts of the enemy, a prayer for the president, and as he died he remarked to his comrades that Lincoln had showed he was no coward and was not afraid to die.
At the burial later the chaplain narrated the circumstances to the boys who stood about with uncovered heads. He had prayed for the president and paid him a most fervid and glowing tribute with his dying breath.

Let us do that next job of yours. We'll do it right.

Have You Seen the Fifth Wheel?

This is a Strong, New, Weber Wagon Feature

YOU can find the new fifth wheel, the big 1914 improvement, only on International wagons.

We can demonstrate how the Weber fifth wheel makes the best wagon still better.

The famous fifth wheel on the Weber, made of strong, malleable iron, with large wearing surface, does these things: It distributes the strain on the front bolster and sandboard; overcomes pitching of bolster, so preventing bending or breaking of the king bolt; does away with pulling up of front bolster and bending of circle iron.

The top plates of the fifth wheel are widest, so the lower plates are protected and no dirt gets in between. The more you study the merits of this feature, the more you will appreciate its importance.

Picnic at Highland Park.

Miss Kathaleen Phipps entertained her music class with a picnic at Highland Park on the Fourth.

Each pupil was given the privilege of inviting one or two friends, and the whole number amounted to fifty who partook of the dinner.

After dinner the time was spent in swinging and bathing, after which the boys organized into a troop of soldiers and the girls formed a Red Cross society, and they played soldier and nurse until late in the evening, when they left the grounds with every one feeling they had spent a joyous day. The following composed the class: Misses Jewel Lacy, Frances Gardner, Gladys Nickell, Bessaline Perry, Leona Elam, Mrs. James Franklin, Grace Reed, Roxie and Leona Reed, Eula Arnett, Maude Mae Dyer, Artie Lykins, Aura Maxey, Eula Mae Spencer, Pauline Taulbee, Masters Park and Richard Sturdivent and Robert Elam.

Mrs. E. B. Wells Passes Away.

Just before going to press we received the news of Mrs. E. B. Wells' death which occurred at 11 o'clock a. m. today (Wednesday) at the home of her daughter, Mrs. I. W. Rose on the hill just west of town. Mrs. Wells was 82 years old and an estimable lady.

We have not time nor space for a more extended account of her death in this issue.

Church Dedicated.

The Missionary Baptist church at this place was dedicated Sunday, Eld. C. D. Stevens, of Harlan, preaching the dedicatory sermon. Eld. H. M. Eastes, of Morehead, who organized the local congregation, was also present.

The church is entirely free from debt. It had always been the purpose of the congregation not to dedicate the church until all its indebtedness was paid.

Called to Bedside of Daughter.

Mrs. W. G. Oakley received a telegram Wednesday morning from Logansport, Ind., saying that her daughter, Mrs. Audrey Ellington, was seriously sick and to come at once. The telegram did not state the nature of the trouble.

Mrs. Oakley left immediately upon receipt of the telegram.

July 3, 1917.

To Whom This May Concern:

This is to certify that I am well acquainted with J. H. Williams, of West Liberty, Kentucky, who graduated from this College with the degree of LL. B. I take pleasure in saying that Mr. Williams is one of the strongest men we ever had in our school; is a man fine ability and executive skill, honest, upright and industrious, and worthy of the confidence and esteem of any and all persons.

In saying this I am not only expressing my own opinion of Mr. Williams, but the other members of our faculty share with me, besides all others of the University who knew him say the same things. Those who may engage him in personal or public matters will also find him worthy of every trust.

Very respectfully,

W. L. LAFFERTY,

Dean, College of Law, University of Kentucky.

Fugett-Earles.

Mr. Frank Fugett, son of W. C. Fugett and wife, of near town, and Miss Emma Earles were married at Middletown, Ohio, one day last week. They will make their home in Missouri where Mr. Fugett has employment.

Flag Day July 14. Come.

HOVERMALE IS EXPERIENCED

Why Hesitate

To Elect a Man that
You Know will Give You Results for your County?

Vote for the Good of your County
by voting for a man who has proven himself an efficient County Attorney.

Would you hire a man to do a job of work for you whose ability and fitness for the job was not known to you, and when you could get a man that you were certain knew how?

Then, will you give less consideration to the welfare of your county, and elect an untried man of whose ability and willingness to make a good County Attorney you do not know, when a man who has the experience and a good record for faithful, tax-saving, law-enforcing service can be had?

Would that be good public business?

Elect

L. T. Hovermale
County Attorney

And you will get

Progressive, businesslike service
Sensible county management
Strict enforcement of the law

And full information as to how your tax money is expended; how much the county owes and what it is for, and 313 days' service.

HOVERMALE WON'T FAIL

Don't Experiment

In selecting your County Court Clerk
Faithful, Efficient Service merits reward.

Ren F. Nickell

has demonstrated that he is a capable, efficient, courteous official. You know that he will be again. Then why vote to try the experiment of breaking in a new man?

Moral: When you have a good man—keep him.

Two Schemes Ventilated

Whitt Exposes Attempt to Deceive

It is not my intention to carry on a mud-slinging campaign through the columns of the paper, yet there are a few things I think the public should know.

First, you notice that Mr. Davis claims eighty of the ninety teachers endorse him and have solicited him to make the race. Now, the teachers know that Mr. Davis wrote those letters himself and asked the teachers to sign them. Mr. Davis had paid the teachers their money, as was his duty, and as a matter of courtesy nearly all the teachers signed his paper or probably neglected it. He took advantage of the teachers and tried to obligate the brightest minds of the county and use them as a campaign scheme.

As you see he fails to give their names because he knows that those eighty teachers are not going to support him.

Second, some of his supporters try to intimate that I have not always been a Democrat. They do this possibly because my father is a Republican.

This is not an unusual thing. One of our present county officers, and a good Democrat, is the son of a Republican. This is a free country and I chose to be a Democrat. My mother's people are strong Democrats. My grandfather, Maj. Billy Mynheir, was a soldier in the Rebel army, and you see I am a natural born Democrat.

Ask the people of White Oak, where I was reared, if I have not always been a Democrat.

Respectfully,
BERNARD E. WHITT.

It Helps!

There can be no doubt as to the merit of Cardui, the woman's tonic, in the treatment of many troubles peculiar to women. The thousands of women who have been helped by Cardui in the past 40 years, is conclusive proof that it is a good medicine for women who suffer. It should help you, too.

Take

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

Mrs. N. E. Varner, of Hixson, Tenn., writes: "I was passing through the... My back and sides were terrible, and my suffering indescribable. I can't tell just how and where I hurt, about all over, I think... I began Cardui, and my pains grew less and less, until I was cured. I am remarkably strong for a woman 64 years of age. I do all my housework. Try Cardui, today. E-76"
